

OUR CRAFT IS STORAGE™

Just as you carefully select the right ingredients and take the time to craft the perfect beer, Meridian only uses the best materials and techniques to manufacture the perfect storage systems for your brewery. Meridian's custom bins are engineered and manufactured to your exact needs.

MERIDIAN®

SmoothWall

Protect and store your ingredients with a Meridian SmoothWall hopper bin. With a powder coated exterior and available food grade interior coating, Meridian bins are crafted for quality and reliability. Meridian bins are available in various degree cones, making malt grain handling and cleanout easy and efficient. With a large range of custom paint and decal options you can give your bins as much character as your beer. Whether you require a small grist hopper or a 300,000lb malt silo, there's has a Meridian SmoothWall bin custom designed for your needs.

Insulated Silos

Meridian Insulated SmoothWall silos are designed to make storing and disposing of your spent grain quick and easy. Custom sizes, fill options, level indicators, food grade epoxy coatings, cleanout ball return and overhead drive-throughs are just some of the options available.

Ask us about the available heating blankets and custom colored cladding with 2" insulation if freezing in a colder climate is an issue. Let gravity do the cleanout for you with an optional overhead drive-through.

Stainless

Meridian's stainless steel hopper bins are the best way to store your spent grain with a high PH level. Stainless has better wear resistance than standard carbon steel, and is ideal for your liquid storage.

With the same range of custom options and features as our carbon steel products, you can rely on a Meridian Stainless Hopper Bin to offer long lasting performance.
